

Position title: Telecommunication Engineer of the Future

Scope of Work 1: Implementation Engineering - Access Networks

Scope of Work 2: Planning Engineering - Access Networks Design

Headquarter: Belgrade, Serbia

ROAMING NETWORKS was established in 2008 as a member of ROAMING Group of companies, and as a specialized company for design, installation, integration and maintenance of Telco radio and microwave access networks. Through the years company has developed its competence in other areas of Telco business as well and today has strong competence and presence in Balkan and other European markets in three strategic lines of Telco business: radio and microwave access networks, passive optical networks and transport systems. The company has offices in Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Austria, Germany and Norway.

We are proud to announce that first groups of fresh graduates who successfully passed internship through "Telecommunication Engineer of the Future" program are now our employees and our plan is to continue and employ more graduates of Electrical Engineering Faculty, Faculty of Electronic Engineering and Faculty of Transport and Traffic Engineering, Department of telecommunication. If you are at final year of Bachelor or Master studies with few exams left or you are fresh graduate, your GPA is 8,00 or more, and your English is on a fluent level stay here and read more information about an opportunity for student internship we are offering.

- ✓ Two months internship with the guidance of experienced mentors
- ✓ Theoretical and practical trainings
- ✓ Signed student contract since the day one
- ✓ Opportunity to gain practical knowledge in the areas of mobile communications
- ✓ Possibility to get a full time job after two months, subject to engagement evaluation during internship
- ✓ Work with our experienced project managers, engineers, technicians and riggers
- ✓ More that 80% of interns who passed internship program are now our employees

If you are ready to accept a challenge, work in dynamic environment and become our valuable Telecommunication Engineer of the Future, send your CV, to our email HR@roamingnetworks.rs were the subject of the email includes for which position you are applying within scope of work 1 or scope of work 2.

Add is permanently open. Join us and become our Telecommunication Engineer of the Future!!!